

Athletes of Thought | Students of Action

BOYS & GIRLS
8-18 YEARS OLD | Private Workshop
Small Group (Max. 3)

WHO WE ARE

DOSA Basketball is a skill development clinic instructed exclusively by currently-enrolled Division One Student-Athletes from the Ivy League & select institutions.

At DOSA, we understand the impact of athletic-intellectual-balance on a student-athlete's trajectory. From top to bottom, DOSA is a product of this shared synergy.

We are the current generation of elite student-athletes developing the future generation.

0° of separation between your dreams and your reality.

Athletes of Thought | Students of Action™

CURRICULUM

Students of Action: Up-to-date D-1 skill development translated into an age-appropriate syllabus.

Athletes of Thought: A holistic assessment of each student-athlete's specific needs through the prism of athletic-intellectual balance — skills guided by an understanding of the game.

Thoughts into Action: Purposeful competition to test the day's lesson.

Personalized Written Feedback emailed to student-athletes articulating the day's lessons, identifying areas of improvement and offering insightful observations to keep both parent and child engaged in their individual process

ARMANI COTTON | Founder

Armani Cotton is a 2015 Yale Men's Basketball Ivy League Champion and current international pro who founded DOSA Sports LLC to debunk the myth that the "valedictorian" and "star athlete" are mutually exclusive identities – students destined for separate paths.

MEET THE COACHES

Patrick Tapé | Columbia University
Sophomore | 6'10 Forward |
Urban Studies x Sustainable Development

Janiya Clemmons | Columbia University
Sophomore | 5'9 Guard |
Computer Science

Quinton Adlesh | Columbia University
Junior | 6'0 Guard |
Political Science x Business

For full coaching list, visit the website.